

Datasets deposit agreement in the ASEP data repository

By agreeing to the terms outlined here, the depositor asserts that he is either the sole rights-holder or he is permitted by all rights-holder(s) to deposit this dataset in the ASEP data repository.

By depositing the dataset in the ASEP repository the depositor retains all his copyright and moral rights to all his deposited files. The depositor retains the right to deposit a dataset elsewhere in its present or future version(s).

The depositor guarantees that the content of deposited dataset:

1. does not breach any law, is original and does not infringe the copyright of any other person,
2. if it contains material that is copyright of a third-party, the depositor secured permission from the rights-holder or her/his representative to include such material in the dataset; the materials for which the depositor have not secured the necessary permissions have been deleted from the dataset before deposit
3. if the dataset has been sponsored or subsidised by any institution or organisation other than The Czech Academy of Sciences (CAS), the depositor has fulfilled all obligations to that institution or organisation regarding to the publication of his work,
4. the dataset does not contain any confidential personal data that cannot be disclosed,
5. the metadata record contains all mandatory fields and other details describing content, origin and format to facilitate search and further data distribution. Access to the dataset has been defined (publicly accessible to download or embargo period – the time from when the dataset will be free to download or on request). The Creative Commons license has been selected or another licensing agreement has been added to inform users how they can handle the dataset.

The depositor agrees that:

- 1) administration and preserving of metadata and datasets will be provided by The Library of CAS,
- 2) The Library of CAS will not make any other changes apart from those permitted by this license,
- 3) The Library of CAS may, if it does not change the content, convert his record into any format or any medium for its preservation,
- 4) The Library of CAS may retain more than one copy of this record for purposes of its security, backup and long-term preservation,
- 5) The Library of CAS has the right to delete the dataset from the repository for legal or administrative reasons, or if any violation of the legal rights of any person is being proved,
- 6) should a dataset be removed from the ASEP repository by the depositor's request, The Library of CAS reserves the right to retain its metadata record in the repository as trace of the dataset. This informs users of the ASEP repository that the removal of this dataset was deliberate,

- 7) The Library of CAS accepts no responsibility for mistakes, omissions, or legal infringements within the deposited object.

This agreement shall be governed by the law of the Czech Republic and shall take effect on the date of dataset publication in the online catalog ASEP.